Resources to Support Teaching about the Holocaust

The Museum offers educators accurate, unbiased, and interdisciplinary resources based on its extensive collection, as well as free professional development opportunities to explore instructional best practices. The Museum works to ensure educators are inspired and prepared to teach about the Holocaust and to prompt students to think critically about the past and their actions today.

INSTRUCTIONAL RESOURCES

The Museum offers classroom-ready tools and activities that allow students to learn about how and why the Holocaust happened and to make connections between historical events and the world they live in. An extensive collection of inquiry-based lesson plans are designed to flexibly integrate into curricula across multiple subject areas.
