

The United Nations General Assembly designated January 27—the anniversary of the liberation of Auschwitz-Birkenau—as International Holocaust Remembrance Day, a time to remember the six million Jewish victims of the Holocaust and the millions of other victims of Nazi persecution. This year marks 80 years since Auschwitz’s liberation.

However, antisemitism didn’t end with the Holocaust. As we witness its alarming rise today, it is more important than ever for us to recognize the critical lessons of Holocaust history as we commemorate the victims and honor the survivors.

We hope you can take a moment on January 27 to honor the six million Jewish victims of the Holocaust and millions of other victims of Nazism.

Below are sample social media posts and graphics to mark the day. More information can be found at <https://www.ushmm.org/remember/international-holocaust-remembrance-day>.

Facebook:

I join the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum in marking today—the 80th anniversary of the liberation of Auschwitz-Birkenau and International Holocaust Remembrance Day—to honor the memory of Europe’s Jews, who were targeted for annihilation.

<https://www.ushmm.org/remember/international-holocaust-remembrance-day>

As the world grapples with an alarming surge in antisemitism, it is more critical than ever for us to learn the lessons of the Holocaust. Today, on International Holocaust Remembrance Day, I join the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum and people around the world in paying tribute to the victims and survivors.

<https://www.ushmm.org/remember/international-holocaust-remembrance-day>

Twitter:

I join the @HolocaustMuseum today—the 80th anniversary of the liberation of Auschwitz-Birkenau and International #HolocaustRemembranceDay—in honoring the memory of Europe’s Jews, who were targeted for annihilation.

<https://www.ushmm.org/remember/international-holocaust-remembrance-day>

Amid an alarming global rise in antisemitism, it is more critical than ever for us to learn the lessons of the Holocaust. This International #HolocaustRemembranceDay, I join the @HolocaustMuseum in paying tribute to the victims and survivors.

<https://www.ushmm.org/remember/international-holocaust-remembrance-day>

Instagram:

I join the @HolocaustMuseum today—the 80th anniversary of the liberation of #Auschwitz-Birkenau and International #HolocaustRemembranceDay—in honoring the memory of Europe’s Jews, who were targeted for annihilation.

<https://www.ushmm.org/remember/international-holocaust-remembrance-day>

Amid an alarming global rise in antisemitism, it is more critical than ever for us to learn the lessons of the Holocaust. This International #HolocaustRemembranceDay, I join the @HolocaustMuseum in paying tribute to the victims and survivors.

<https://www.ushmm.org/remember/international-holocaust-remembrance-day>

Images:

